ACADEMY

Developing Leaders in Cooperative Education and Internships

Not Going to the Conference? How about Vail?

For 21 years the CEIA Academy, formerly known as the National Academy for Work-Integrated Learning (NAWIL), has been training those new to professional practice in work-integrated learning (experiential learning, experiential education, cooperative education, internships, etc).

If you/your colleague are leading work-integrated learning programs, have less than three years of experience and are searching for a tailored professional development opportunity, I encourage exploring participation in the 21st Annual CEIA Academy. Many CEIA Academy alumni often go on to accept leadership roles within the association.
